

Little Black Marble

Poem for Children

Tirmidy Wahab Angni

Little black marble
How frightening you are;
For a tiny piece of orb
Such unexpected depth.

Little black marble
How beautiful you are;
Behind the hard exterior
Soft swirling hues.

Little black marble
I feel your inside;
Your small eddies
blow ripples on my soul.

Little black marble
I can't see you shine;
You glow so mysteriously
What I see are shadows.

Little black marble
Do I understand you?
Little black marble
Do I want to keep you?
